Quaker Houghton, the global leader in industrial process fluids, exhibits its steel fluid solutions at AISTech 2021

Quaker Houghton will feature key technologies from its steel fluids portfolio including:

- Long Steel Manufacturing: Selection of hydraulic fluids, lubricants, greases, gear oils, coolants, and cleaners to help run processes under demanding conditions
- Fire-Resistant Hydraulic Fluids: HFA, HFC, and HFDu hydraulic system oils with excellent corrosion properties, high ignition temperatures, and most meeting FM Global (Factory Mutual) approvals to help avoid fire potential and boost safe operations
- Industrial Greases: Wide range of lubricants for mill applications aimed to provide greater efficiency, improved working conditions, and reduced total cost of ownership

Complementing these offerings, the company has a full range of steel fluid solutions that include cleaners, rolling oils, corrosion preventives, temper fluids, surface treatment, industrial lubricants, equipment, and services. With its products and expertise, Quaker Houghton aims to increase productivity, reduce consumption and waste, minimize defects, and maximize safety in steel manufacturing.
